ELECTRICITY IN WARFARE -A' a mee! ing of the New York Electrical Society at Columbia College Thursday evering Lieutenant Bradier A. Fate, United States Navy, read a paper chiefly devoted to a review of the uses to which electricity is now put in navy ships and army defences, coupled with a recommendation that a corps of electricians be organized in con-nection with the antional or State forces. Lieutenant Fiske called attention to the fact that in case of war the navy and the army would both be expanded to such an extent that there would be an insufficient number of trained officers for each of them; also that the manipulation of ships, guns, search lights, mines and controlled torpedoes would be largely dependent upon electricity, and that neither the navy nor the army contained a sufficient number of experts to handle the batteries and connections. He suggested that a corps be formed which should comprise at first about two hundred and fifty members, and that it should be officered, uniformed and drilled number of trained officers for each of them; it should be officered, uniformed and drilled as are the other corps of the National Guard seen advecated infinity drill as a Guard—even advecated infentry drill as a means of its illing thoroughly the military idea. Occasional rune in the torpedo boat Cushing and frequent trips out to sea for target practice in some of the modern war ships would be essential, and while there would also be many compensating social and other advantages. While the details of such a plan will naturally call forth considerable discussion, Lieutenent Fiske believes that his general plan will commend itself not only to the officers of both branch 3 of the service, but also to most electricians in civil life.

DIVED INTO A DEEP WELL -Thomas Bree, an itinerant and a prisoner at the New Haven, Conn., jail, made an attempt at sulclde in the yard Monday. On October 15 be was arrested and charged with drunkerness, and in the City Court on the following day was fined $1 and costs. In default of payment he went to j.il. He had been confined but a few days. payment he went to jail. He had been con-fined but a few days when he was taken ill with malaris. He was unable to work with the rest of the prisoners and was placed un-der treatment in a cell. The prisoner's con-dition was much improved Monday mora-ing and he was taken by one of the watch-men for a walk in the jail yard. He was very fachle. The clear air however, and the feeble. The clear air, however, and the warm rays of the sun had a wonderful effect on him. He suddenly wreached his arm free from the grasp of the attendant and ran at full speed down the court yard, with his guard in pursuit. There is an open wel! in the yard. It is thirty feet fom the ground to the surface of the water and seventeen feet more to the bottom. Bree ran directly toward the well, and when he reached the brick turned and paused a mon ed 'goodby" to his pursuer and dived head foremost down the opening. Assistance was summoned, ropes were lowered and in a few moments the would-be suicide was brought to the surface. He had shot down the well shaft and in his descent had not touched the sides of the well. When he was brought up there was not a scratch on him. Hestruggled to his feet, and, after winking at his captors, walked toward the jail, en-tered it and cooly laid down on his cot in
